Dear Parents and Carers,

On Friday 20th November, as part of our anti bullying week, we are going to hold our annual an odd sock day!

The children can come to school in odd socks to emphasize the message that we are all unique and it's good to be different. This is not a non-uniform day and children should wear school uniform (or PE kit if it is a PE day) as usual. Celebrating differences is one of the themes running through the week as well as the main theme for this year 'United against bullying'. During the week the children will take part in many activities related to these themes ensuring that they all know bullying is not acceptable, what to do if they are being bullied or if they see someone else being bullied. The children will be taught what bullying is and the different forms it can take, including cyber bullying.

Although bullying is not a significant issue at our school and staff work hard to deal with instances when they happen, it is important for the children to have the knowledge and skills to know what to do should they encounter it.

We hope your child will be able to join us all in our odd sock day!

Kind Regards,
Anne Sargent
